

The diagram is divided into two main horizontal sections, each representing a different context of iText integration. Each section contains a vertical sidebar on the left and a main content area on the right.

Top Section:

- Sidebar: Three blue rectangular boxes stacked vertically, labeled "The Platform", "The Library", and "The Company". A red dashed line is positioned below the "The Company" box.
- Main Content Area:
 - Title: "The Library" in large, bold black font.
 - Text: A block of placeholder text consisting of multiple lines of "long text".

Bottom Section:

- Sidebar: Three blue rectangular boxes stacked vertically, labeled "The Platform", "The Library", and "The Company". A red dashed line is positioned below the "The Company" box.
- Main Content Area:
 - Title: "The Library" in large, bold black font.
 - Text: A block of placeholder text consisting of multiple lines of "long text".

Central Content Area (Between Sections):

- Section 1: A blue rectangular box with the text "iText is a software developer toolkit that allows users to integrate PDF functionalities within their applications" in white font.
- Section 2: A blue rectangular box with the text "By providing you with the tools to create and manipulate a pdf in your source code" in white font.
- Section 3: A blue rectangular box with the text "Yes really!" in white font.

How?

By providing you with the tools to create and manipulate a pdf in your source code

Really?

Yes really!